With the new year comes a lot of changes.
And your library is working hard to implement new programs that will engage and excite everyone.
Check out these four events for kids preschool age and younger.

Mark your calendars now so you don't miss these fun events!

Teenagers are needed!
We have a fun 8-10 hour project just for you.
The library was accepted into the YouthAstroNet Program run by the Smithsonian and Harvard University. We need student researchers to help with this project.
You'll get to use robotic equipment developed by NASA and track specific star and planet movements.
Not only is this a fun opportunity, but it would look great on a college resume application.
Students are needed ASAP.
Please email Kristi Hileman, director, at khileman@walton.lib.in.us or call her at 574-626-2234.
